CDC Fact Sheet: School Nutrition Policies and Practices Can Support the Social and Emotional Climate and Learning

School Nutrition Policies and Practices Can Support the Social and Emotional Climate and Learning

The Whole School, Whole Community, Whole Child framework shows how multiple aspects of the school environment support students' health, well-being, and academic success. This brief describes connections between the school nutrition environment and services, the social and emotional climate (SEC) in school, and activities that support students' social and emotional learning (SEL).
